

Life After Dissertation: Deriving Maximum Value From Career Investments

Wednesday, May 14, 2008
12:00 - 1:30pm
Register for Room Location

Pizza will be served

In order to keep the workshop most productive, registration is limited to the first 35 participants.

Please visit <http://gsps.ucdavis.edu/Selaregistration.htm> to register.

After your hood, robe and parchment are safely stored away, life AD (after dissertation) begins. How sure are you that you will be satisfied with the results? What is "success", and how will you measure it? Regardless of the job offer that you accept, how can you be assured that you derive maximum value from your career investments?

Please participate in this discussion of how emotional intelligence shapes your professional success. Don't miss this opportunity to begin to cultivate a skill set that is typically ignored in graduate school. These skills (or competencies) directly impact interpersonal relationships among colleagues and dictates your efficacy as a leader.

Workshop leader:

Caryle Vann, PE, PMP

Senior Project Manager and Chemical Engineer, Genentech, Inc.

Hosted by:

David Sela, Ph.D. Candidate, Microbiology Graduate Group

Contact: dasela@ucdavis.edu

Sponsored by the Office of Graduate Studies (Professors for the Future and the Professional Development Series)

UCDAVIS